

Use of Cookies

We want to make the use of our website easy, useful and reliable. To do this we sometimes place small amounts of information on your device. These include small files known as cookies. They cannot be used to identify you personally but they do make your experience as a visitor better.

Our site automatically deploys the following cookies on visitors' computers on arrival at our website, provided cookies are not blocked by the visitors' browsers.

One of these cookies (ASP.NET_SessionId) allows us to maintain the user browsing experience and identify whether the user is logged into restricted areas. This is automatically deleted at the end of the browsing session.

The second cookie (cookieNoticeDisplayed) is deployed once a visitor has been flagged about our use of cookies by the pop-out notice. It allows the banner to remain closed as you visit different pages on the site. It is automatically deleted at the end of the browsing session - 30 minutes after leaving the site.

In addition the site deploys a number of third party generated cookies because of the integration of various third party applications on the site.

The cookies of which we are aware include:

Google

PREF, __utma, __utmb, __utmc, __utmv, __utmz, NID, docsperf, rememberme, __qca, HSID, APISID, SID

These cookies provide us with information about the numbers of visitors and how they reached us, they also recognise location when used with Google maps and allow the pages to be liked using Google+

We do not have control over the cookies deployed by Google we are forced to accept them to take advantages of the services this company provides which we believe to be of value to our visitors - their privacy policy which governs their use of cookies can be found here.

---

AddThis

loc, bt, dt, di, uid, uvc, psc, ssc, ssh, sshs, uit, __unam

To enable sharing of our content through other smaller social networking sites we utilise a service called AddThis Social Share from Add This llc. These cookies are deployed by Add This to enable the sharing of information through users social network accounts.

We do not have control over the cookies deployed by Add This we are forced to accept them to take advantages of the services this company provides which we believe to be of value to our visitors - their privacy policy which governs their use of cookies can be found here.

PayPal

TS6a0e62, Apache, cookie_check, consumer_display, ts, navcmd, navlns, s_pers, s_sess

These cookies are deployed by PayPal to enable customisation of the PayPal Services, content, and advertising; to measure promotional effectiveness, and to promote trust and safety.

We do not have control over the cookies deployed by PayPal we are forced to accept them to take advantages of the services this company provides which we believe to be of value to our visitors - their privacy policy which governs their use of cookies can be found here.

A cookie called "cookieNoticeDisplayed" is deployed once a visitor has been flagged about our use of cookies by the pop-out notice on our site. It makes the pop-out notice remain closed as you visit different pages on the site. It is automatically deleted at the end of the browsing session - 30 minutes after leaving the site.

General Cookie Advice

You can restrict or block the cookies used by the The Studio - CT website through your browser settings but this will impact your user experience. The Help function within your browser should tell you how.

Alternatively, you can visit www.aboutcookies.org which provides directions on how to block cookies on all major browsers. This site also explains how you can delete cookies that have already been stored on your computer as well as general information about cookies.

You should be aware though that restricting cookies may impact on the functionality of the websites you visit.